Notification Regarding Revision of Dividend Forecast

The Company has made the following revision to its dividend forecast for the end of the second quarter of the fiscal year ending March 2021 (interim dividend). The forecast had not previously been determined.

Details

1. Reason for revision to dividend forecast

The Company had not previously determined its dividend forecast for the fiscal year ending March 2021, but taking into account the most recent trends in business performance, the Company's financial position, and other factors, the interim dividend forecast per share has been set at 19 yen, the same amount as the previous year.

The year-end dividend and earnings forecast for the current fiscal year are being calculated and will be promptly announced as soon as they can be disclosed.
